

PENN STUDENTS AND TEAM WANT FOLWELL

Players Vote for Retention of Mullica Hill Coach After Electing Bud Hopper Captain

COUNCIL MEETS TODAY

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK
 BOB FOLWELL, has the University of Pennsylvania football team and the majority of the students behind him in his struggle to return as coach of the 1920 eleven.
 The entire football squad, consisting of twenty-five letter men and including Bud Hopper, the newly elected captain, voted yesterday in favor of retaining Folwell as coach.
 A resolution to that effect was forwarded to the University council on athletics, which, it is said, will announce the result of the 1920 vote after its session this afternoon.
 The football players met to elect the new captain, and after Hopper had received the congratulations of his teammates, it was moved that Folwell be retained as coach. This was given a vote of 25 to 1, and it was passed unanimously that he be retained as head coach.
 A new football committee will be appointed today by Dr. John Adams, the chairman of the University council, and of which Hopper is a member. The committee will be charged with the duty of selecting the players for the 1920 team.
 Folwell's personal magnetism long has had its hold on the student body and it is not unlikely that the undergraduates will draw up a resolution to retain him at the council meeting.
 Hopper has swung toward Folwell now that it is known that the players are behind him and it is said that he

Penn Alumni Editor Raps College Boxing

In the current issue of the Pennsylvania Gazette, the University of Pennsylvania's weekly alumni magazine, is an editorial warning the promoters of college boxing to proceed slowly in their efforts to make boxing a competitive intercollegiate sport.
 The editor points out that as a collegiate sport college boxing is liable to become the prey of the professional boxing promoter, and that the danger from the professional element would be even greater than the danger from the amateur element.
 The editorial also points out that the University of Pennsylvania has a long and honorable record in the promotion of college boxing, and that it is the duty of the University to maintain this record.

Will Be Appointed by the Council and Offered a Contract

Frazier Resigns
 George H. Frazier resigned as chairman of the football committee yesterday and John M. Hopper was elected to succeed him. Two members of the alumni will be appointed to succeed them, and one undergraduate will also be chosen for the committee. Hopper and Ed Vane, the manager, are members on account of their respective positions.
 Hopper succeeded Bert Bell as captain of the grid fighters. He is twenty-one years old and a junior in the Wharton School. He entered Pennsylvania in 1918 from Syracuse, where he was in attendance one year.
 Because of the temporary abolishment of the one-year rule on account of the war Hopper was eligible for his first year in his first year at the University, and he was selected as the regular end. He was Walter Camp's choice for an all-American wing that season.
 Hopper's home is in Kalamazoo, Mich., and he admits it without a blush. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

By LOUIS JAFFE

Marcus Williams has started negotiations to open a gymnasium. He refuses to divulge the spot where he plans to have boxers condition themselves, but says it will be one of the best gymnasiums in the city.
 Joe Burrell, Kensington boxer, shared honors with Franklin D'Oyley, national champion of the American Legion before a big crowd at the Bellevue-Stratford the other night. Joe is a member of the Fourth Naval District Post, No. 126. Burrell has been appointed to the athletic committee of Post No. 169.
 Adam Ryan's gymnasium gives the impression of a busy little hive. Adam has a number of local boxers working out in his cozy little place, among them being Jimmy Murphy, Al Brown and Charlie Bear.

Harry Carlson, of Boston, will show in the star bout at the Olympia, January 17. His opponent will be Willie Jackson.
 Eddie Fitzsimmons' knockout victory over Irish Patay in Detroit came as a big surprise. Fitz didn't impress with his punching powers here.
 Milburn Saylor has decided to retire. He got this inspiration after being knocked down seven times and finally out in a bout with Jack Barry, of Pittsburgh.

Frank Mahoney and Young Frank are a pair of newcomers in Philadelphia competition, and they will show their first bouts at the Olympia, meeting Willie Curry and Joe Jackson, respectively. The opening mix will bring together Jimmy Austin and Ping Bodie.

Joe Dillon, who was stopped in Baltimore the other night by Little Jeff, was not the Joe Dillon, of New York, according to a letter from Lew Raymond today. Raymond writes that Dillon was given a referee's decision over Jeff two years ago, but they have not boxed since.

Tommy Murray, a brother of Battling Murray, has been matched by William Britton to box Young Salsburg ten rounds in Boston, January 12. It will also be a record-breaking crowd would see this contest, and many were disappointed when the permit for the contest was revoked.

Chief of Police Smith, of New Haven, sort of rubbed a little wood alcohol on the January 18 Benny Leonard-Johnny Dundee twenty-round bout. It looked as if a record-breaking crowd would see this contest, and many were disappointed when the permit for the contest was revoked.

Johnny Gill, the York, Pa., welterweight, who is scheduled to make his first Philadelphia appearance at the Auditorium A. A. next Tuesday night, is no slouch. He proved this when he recently gave Champion Jack Britton a tough argument. Gill's opponent will be Len Rowlands, and Len should make a good test for the up-starter.
